SCHOOL OF HOTEL ADMINISTRATION

IN 1922, at the request of the American Hotel Association, a four-year program of instruction in the field of hotel administration, the first of its kind anywhere, was established at Cornell University. Later, at the request of the National Restaurant Association, a program designed especially to meet the needs of prospective restaurateurs was offered. Members of both Associations have provided financial support, have found places in their organizations for students and graduates, and have on many occasions endorsed the curriculum.

The principal benefactor has been the late Ellsworth Milton Statler, creator of Statler Hotels. During his lifetime Mr. Statler gave generously. His heirs continued the support until the establishment, under his will, of the Statler Foundation, and the Foundation has been generous indeed.

The Trustees of the Statler Foundation, Mrs. Statler, Mr. Ward B. Arbury, Mr. E. H. Letchworth, Mr. Frank A. McKowne, and Judge Michael J. Montesano, donated $2,550,000 to erect and equip a building to house the School, Statler Hall, which was completed in 1950. A new wing housing a larger library, additional laboratory facilities, and the 900-seat Alice Statler Auditorium has been completed at a cost of $2,300,000. The whole structure offers unequaled facilities for instruction in hotel and restaurant management. To provide for the adequate maintenance of the building, the Foundation has also donated an endowment of $1,250,000. These and other gifts, in support of the E. M. Statler Professorship, of research, and of bibliographical work, constitute a total of well over $6,000,000.

Other generous benefactors have supplied the impressive array of scholarships listed on pages 79-85 thereby extending endorsement and encouragement to the School and financial assistance to the students.

STATLER HALL

Statler Hall is a unique educational building, designed expressly to meet the needs of the faculty and the students of the School of Hotel Administration. The building is in three parts: a classroom section, a practice inn, and an auditorium with full stage facilities.

The classroom section, a substantial five-story building with 100,000 square feet of space, is augmented by about 50,000 square feet of additional office, classroom, and laboratory space in the air-conditioned Alice Statler wing. For instruction and research in hotel and restaurant subjects, these two sections provide nineteen lecture rooms, forty-one offices, six auditoriums, and fourteen laboratories, all designed and equipped with the latest mechanical and instructional devices. Students also have their own lounge with a fireplace, multichannel television, radio, and serving pantry.

The School's library, the most extensive of its kind anywhere, numbers about 9,000 volumes on hotel and restaurant operation and related subjects, including the files of leading serial publications in the hotel field, some complete from their first issues, others dating back to the founding of the School. The library has been the recipient of many gifts of display materials and personal collections. Among them are the Herndon collection of 1,600 books, including many rare items; the J. O. Dahl Memorial Library; the books of W. I. Hamilton; the "Oscar of the Waldorf" (Oscar Tschirky) collection of autographed dinner menus and memorabilia; the Pinco collection of menus, dating back to the early 1900's; and the Vehling collection of rare books and prints (about 500 of each) depicting the history of food and its cookery, the latter a personal gift from Mrs. Statler.

Statler Inn, the practice inn, contains thirty-six transient rooms, each with private bath, designed and decorated in the most modern and efficient manner, a front office desk, and appropriate lounge areas. Its facilities constitute a laboratory and its activities constitute the exercises for front office practice and for instruction in rooming and registration procedures.

Statler Inn has also a formal dining room seating about 200, five private dining rooms seating from eight to 100, two self-service dining rooms for 100 to 150, a cocktail lounge, and a ballroom seating nearly 400. Several commodious kitchens containing a complete array of modern, stainless steel equipment serve these dining rooms and constitute practice laboratories for the students.

The food and beverage operations of the Inn provide the students of restaurant management abundant outlets for practical experience in the preparation and service of food, wines, and liquors in all types of dining rooms, from self-service cafeterias and buffets to French service.

Students in hotel and restaurant engineering have the facilities and equipment of the Statler Inn available for field study. The accounting records of its operation provide the basis for class exercises in the accounting courses. The problems of personnel management and human relations that arise in the day-by-day operation of the Inn become case studies in the courses in hotel administration. The School is most fortunate in being able to develop for its students a close and intimate relationship between theoretical and practical instruction through the use of Statler Inn.

THE ALICE STALLER AUDITORIUM

HISTORY OF THE SCHOOL

The School began, in 1922, as a department organized in the then School of Home Economics of the New York State College of Agriculture. After years of valued assistance from and close cooperation with the faculty of Home Economics, the erstwhile department became the School of Hotel Administration in 1950 and in 1954 was separated from the State Colleges to become a completely independent academic unit within the University, a college in its own right with its own faculty and dean.

A single professor met with a class of twenty-one in 1922. The intervening thirty-eight years have seen a gradual expansion in the faculty, the curriculum, the student body, and the alumni organization. The School now has a full-time resident faculty of eighteen. These eighteen devote themselves exclusively to the development of the specialized courses offered by the School and to the instruction of its students. They are fully trained in both the academic and the practical aspects of their respective fields. They are experienced in hotel and restaurant work, and many of them are active consultants to nationally important hotel and restaurant organizations.

The work of the resident Hotel School faculty is supplemented by the services of sixteen other persons who offer specialized courses. Many of them active hotel or restaurant executives, lawyers, accountants, or experts in advertising or human relations, they come to Ithaca from New York or Chicago at weekly intervals to bring, for study and discussion in the classroom, the current problems of their daily work.

Altogether the School offers some seventy-seven courses, totaling one hundred and eighty-three hours, that have been developed by the School and designed expressly to meet the needs of its students. In addition, students have access without restriction to courses offered by all the other colleges of the University—courses of professional and of cultural value—and they are guided and stimulated to tap generously the tremendous educational resources of a great University.

EDUCATIONAL OBJECTIVES

Any program of higher education has two major responsibilities to its students: (1) to fit them for effective work in the economic society of the future in order that each may justly claim from that society a reasonable standard of living; and (2) to provide them with an adequate cultural background against which to perceive the values in and enjoy the living so earned. These requirements are met in formal education for the business of hotel or restaurant operation. These businesses provide good opportunities for well-trained persons, and preparation for work in them involves the study of so wide a variety of subject matter as to approximate a liberal education.

The hotel or the restaurant is a complex institution; its operation calls for a wide range of skills, for the use of a variety of products in a large number of processes. The guest must be received with cordiality and service; he must be provided with a well-lighted, tastefully decorated, comfortably furnished room in which the temperature is ideal; and served with appetizing, wholesome food wisely bought, properly stored, and skillfully prepared. He must have at his disposal conveniences of every type: check rooms, public spaces, public stenographers, radios, television, and exhibition spaces.

8 SCHOOL OF HOTEL ADMINISTRATION

A curriculum adequate to prepare one for the direction of those operations and for the provision of those services and equipments must draw upon nearly every branch of human knowledge. As a consequence, the prospective hotel operator studies drawing, physics, bacteriology, sanitation, chemistry, biology, engineering, vegetable crops, meat products, dietetics, food preparation, textiles, decoration, law, psychology, personnel management, advertising, and public speaking, all in addition to the subjects ordinarily studied in preparation for business management.

Each subject is approached by the student with the same focusing interest: How does this material relate to hotel and restaurant operation? Breadth of training is obtained without dissipation of interest. The graduate should be a well-educated and a socially useful individual.

The Hotel Ezra Cornell board of directors meets in a planning session.

For more than a generation, students of the School of Hotel Administration at Cornell have planned and administered their own "final examination" to supplement those given by the faculty. Starting in 1926 with a small banquet for visiting hotel and restaurant men, this event has developed into a major weekend project. Housing, breakfasts, luncheons, receptions, banquets, seminars, and exhibits as well as other entertainment are planned for more than 400 visitors annually.

All planning, promotion, purchasing, rooming, preparation, service, and finance are handled by student committees without faculty supervision. In laying the groundwork, budgets are drawn up and submitted for the student board's approval. Stock is issued and sold to students, faculty, and friends of the event. The goal (like that of any other business venture) is to meet all bills promptly, pay a dividend to stockholders, contribute to the School's scholarship fund, and yet retain sufficient surplus to get next year's Hotel Ezra Cornell under way.

DESCRIPTION OF COURSES

EXCEPT for some general University courses regularly taken by students in the School of Hotel Administration and included in the list for their convenience, all the courses described herein are arranged and given by the Hotel School faculty especially for hotel students; in many cases they are taught by active hotel or restaurant executives. Many other courses are open as electives to hotel students: courses in the sciences; in communication, language, and literature; in economics, history, and government; in music, aesthetics, and philosophy; in engineering, architecture, medicine, and law. For full information regarding these latter offerings reference may be made to the Announcements of the other colleges and schools of the University.

ACCOUNTING

The entire fourth floor of the school section of Statler Hall, eight laboratories and nine offices, is set aside for the exclusive use of the Department of Hotel Accounting. The lecture rooms and laboratories are furnished and equipped with a complete inventory of hotel office and computing machinery, among which are room, key, and information racks, three National Cash Register Model 2000 front office posting machines, a National Cash Register food and beverage checking machine, a multicounter portion counter, and the various types of adding and calculating machines. Hotel students also have access to two Burroughs Sensimatic Accounts Receivable posting machines, and in addition, to a complete set of I.B.M. statistical machines, including an eighty-column and a forty-column tabulating machine as well as sorting, coding, and verifying machines.

ACCOUNTING (Hotel Accounting 81). Credit four hours. Required. Professor SILK.

Provides an introduction to the principles of general accounting. Practice includes elementary problems developing the theory of accounts. Emphasis is placed on the adjusting journal entries, the work sheet, financial statements, payroll accounting, special journals, and the operation of control accounts and the voucher register.

RESTAURANT ACCOUNTING (Hotel Accounting 82). Credit four hours. Required. Prerequisite, Hotel Accounting 81 or the equivalent. Professor CLADEL.

Application of the principles of accounting to the records and accounts of a typical large-city, table-service restaurant with bar. Includes an examination of the Uniform System of Accounts for Restaurants as adopted by the National Restaurant Association. Special problems of restaurants are emphasized in connection with sales records, merchandise receiving and control, payroll preparation, accounting for china, glassware, silverware, and linen, and leasehold and ownership of business property. Practice work includes keeping a set of typical books, recording all transactions, closing books, preparing financial statements for several months, and making year-end adjustments.

ACCOUNTING (Hotel Accounting 84). Credit three hours. Professor BECK.

Fundamental principles of accounting with special emphasis on interpretation. Especially designed for students in the School of Industrial and Labor Relations.

MATHEMATICS IN ACCOUNTING (Hotel Accounting 89).* Credit two hours. Hotel elective. Open to first-year students only.

Practice in the solution of mathematical problems incident to accounting situations. Problem situations are drawn from typical cases in hotel accounting and finance.

BASIC HOTEL ACCOUNTING (Hotel Accounting 181). Credit four hours. Required. Prerequisite, Hotel Accounting 81 and 82. Professor CLADEL and Mr. REYNOLDS.

A study of the Uniform System of Accounts for Hotels as recommended by the American Hotel Association. Accounting for the transactions of a 400-room transient hotel. Study of front-office routine, the night audit and transcript, the daily report, and the duties of the accountant. Practice with the special journals used in hotels—the six-column journal and the multi-column operating ledger. The problem involves the recording of the transactions for one month, the summarization, adjustment, and closing of the books, and the preparation of monthly and annual statements therefrom.

* Courses marked with an asterisk are given in alternate years or as the demand requires. Other courses are ordinarily given at least once a year, but in any case offerings are adjusted to the requirements.

INTERMEDIATE ACCOUNTING (Hotel Accounting 182). Credit four hours. Required. Prerequisite, Hotel Accounting 81. Professor CLADEL.

Problems arising in the field of intermediate accounting. Practice includes problems dealing with single entry accounting; partnership organization, operation and dissolution; corporation accounts and records; branch accounting; accounting for manufacturing concerns, and interpretation of financial statements.

AUDITING (Hotel Accounting 183). Credit three hours. Hotel elective. Prerequisite, Hotel Accounting 182. Professor CLADEL.

General auditing. Practice includes the preparation of audit-working papers, balance-sheet audit, detailed audit, internal control in general, and the auditor's report.

FOOD AND BEVERAGE CONTROL (Hotel Accounting 184). Credit three hours. Hotel elective. Professor CLADEL.

A study of the various systems of food and beverage control, and precost control common in the business. Practice is offered in cost analysis, sales analysis, special-item control, and adjustments to inventory; in the preparation of the daily report and summary to date; and in the preparation of monthly food and beverage reports using figures typical of a moderate-sized hotel.

HOTEL ACCOUNTING PROBLEMS (Hotel Accounting 185). Credit two hours. Hotel elective. Open to upperclassmen and graduates. Prerequisite, Hotel Accounting 181 and 182, with an average of not less than 80 in these courses. Mr. LESURE.

Practice in the solution of accounting problems incident to the organization of a corporation owning or operating a hotel, purchase and financing of a hotel property, consolidated statements, reorganizations, depreciation accounting for fixed assets, interpretation of the accounting provisions of trust indentures, leases, and management contracts, and similar advanced problems.

INTERPRETATION OF HOTEL FINANCIAL STATEMENTS (Hotel Accounting 186). Credit two hours. Hotel elective. Open to upperclassmen and graduates. Prerequisite, Hotel Accounting 181 and 182. Mr. LESURE.

A study and discussion of hotel balance sheets, profit and loss statements, and typical hotel balance sheet and operating ratios.

PROBLEMS IN HOTEL ANALYSIS (Hotel Accounting 189). Credit two hours. Hotel elective. Open to upperclassmen and graduates. Professor BECK.

Practice in some statistical procedures, using as illustrative material principally hotel and restaurant figures; presentation and interpretation; frequency distributions, average, median, mode, and measures of dispersion. Special emphasis is placed on linear correlation and regression.

CAFETERIA ACCOUNTING (Hotel Accounting 240). Credit three hours. For institution management students only. Professor BECK. An elementary course in simple accounting, using as illustrative material the accounting records of the cafeteria and the tea room; a study of cash and credit transactions, checkbook and deposit records, journal and ledger entries, trial balances, profit and loss statements, and balance sheets.

INTERNAL CONTROL IN HOTELS (Hotel Accounting 286). Credit two hours. Hotel elective. Open to seniors and graduates and to certain others by permission. Prerequisite, Hotel Accounting 181. Dr. BARRETT.

Discussion of the problems encountered in distributing the accounting and clerical work in hotels so as to provide a good system of internal control. Study of many actual cases of the failure of internal control and the analysis of the causes of the failure. Practical problems and actual techniques of a functioning system of internal control as they specifically apply to the School's Statler Inn operation.

ACCOUNTING MACHINES IN HOTELS (Hotel Accounting 288). Credit one hour. Hotel elective. Professor CLADEL.

Discussion of the place of accounting machines in the hotel front office; practice with a National Cash Register Company front-office posting machine, Model 2000, including the posting of charges and credits and the details of the night audit.

SPECIAL STUDIES IN ACCOUNTING AND STATISTICS FOR HOTELS (Hotel Accounting 289). Credit to be arranged. Hotel elective. Prerequisites, Hotel Accounting 186 and 189 or equivalent. Permission of instructors required. Professor BECK.

Research projects dealing with advanced accounting statistics and finance in the hotel and restaurant industries.

ADMINISTRATION

ORIENTATION (Hotel Administration 100). Credit two hours. Required. Professor LATTIN.

Designed to orient students in the life of the University and in the work of the School of Hotel Administration. The laboratory periods in the Statler Club provide students with the opportunity to gain experience in all departments of a hotel.

RESORT MANAGEMENT* (Hotel Administration 113). Credit one hour. Hotel elective. Mr. MALLESON.

A lecture course in the operation of the resort hotel. Consideration is given to the promotion of business, to the provision of services, to the operation of the dining room, to the entertainment of the guest, and to the selection, training, and direction of the employed staff. Resorts of the various types, seasons, and economic levels are considered.

PSYCHOLOGY FOR STUDENTS IN HOTEL ADMINISTRATION (Hotel Administration 114). Credit three hours. Required. Professor LATTIN.

A terminal course in basic psychological principles designed to develop in the student an awareness of the psychological aspects of many hotel management functions and to demonstrate the application of psychological principles to these functions.

PROBLEMS OF HUMAN BEHAVIOR IN THE HOTEL AND RESTAURANT INDUSTRY (Hotel Administration 116). Credit two hours. Hotel elective. Open to upperclassmen and graduates. Prerequisite, Hotel Administration 114 and permission of the instructor. Professor BECK.

A consideration of the social-psychological factors involving conflict and dispute in hotels and restaurants. Extensive use is made of actual case studies within these industries. Interviewing techniques will be discussed and practiced among the group.

PERSONNEL ADMINISTRATION (Hotel Administration 119). Credit three hours. Hotel elective. Prerequisite, an elementary course in psychology. Professor LATTIN.

A study of the problems of human relation in industry. A survey of the methods and problems of recruitment, selection, placement, maintenance; organization, and government of employees.

RESEARCH AND TECHNIQUES IN PERSONNEL ADMINISTRATION (Hotel Administration 216). Credit three hours. Hotel elective. Open to upperclassmen and graduates. Prerequisite, Hotel Administration 119 and permission of the instructor. Professor LATTIN.

Opportunity is given students to study special problems such as training employees, industrial counseling, the measurement of morale, job analysis, and time and motion study.

LABOR-MANAGEMENT RELATIONS IN THE HOTEL INDUSTRY (Hotel Administration 316). Credit three hours. Hotel elective. Open to upperclassmen and graduates. Prerequisite, Economics 104. (This course will satisfy the requirement of elective work in economics, but when so counted it may not also be counted as three hours of Hotel elective.) Professor BECK.

The development of the trade union movement in the United States with special emphasis upon the AFL-CIO union affiliates active in the hotel and food industry. Case studies are included of disputes and grievances arising in unionized hotels and restaurants.

HUMAN RELATIONS (Hotel Administration 217). Credit two hours. Hotel elective. Open to upperclassmen and graduates. Prerequisite, Hotel Administration 119. Mr. FOERTSCH.

The problems faced by the supervisor and the executive in managing the human element in the hotel and restaurant field. It is designed to give the student insight into the varied social and psychological factors present in any employer-employee relationship.

SUPERVISORY TRAINING IN HOTELS (Hotel Administration 218). Credit two hours. Hotel elective. Open to upperclassmen and graduates. Prerequisite, Hotel Administration 119 and permission of the instructor. Mr. FOERTSCH.

Designed for advanced students in personnel administration. The class initiates and develops a training program for supervisors. Emphasis is placed on participation, group discussion, and individual research. All aspects of the supervisory function are analyzed.

SEMINAR IN PERSONNEL ADMINISTRATION (Hotel Administration 219). Credit two hours. Hotel elective. Open to upperclassmen and graduates. Prerequisite, Hotel Administration 119 and permission of instructor. Professor LATTIN.

A discussion class which provides the opportunity for students to put into practice the theory and techniques learned in the elementary course. Emphasis is placed on understanding and practicing personnel methods which can directly assist in controlling costs of the man-power program.

CLUB MANAGEMENT* (Hotel Administration 222). Credit one hour. Hotel elective. Open to upperclassmen and graduates. Assistant Professor CONNER.

A survey of the problems peculiar to the management of city, country, and other club organizations. Subjects covered are food and beverage management in clubs, committee, board of directors, and membership relations, dues, assessment and financial management. The arrangement and promotion of social and recreational activities are also included.

* Courses marked with an asterisk are given in alternate years or as the demand requires. Other courses are ordinarily given at least once a year, but in any case offerings are adjusted to the requirements.

BUSINESS COMMUNICATION (Hotel Administration 238). Credit three hours. Hotel elective. Open to upperclassmen and graduates. Associate Professor RECKNAGEL.

The preparation of business messages, memorandums, and direct mail promotion in hotels and restaurants. Students may work on problems of their own interest.

RESTAURANT MANAGEMENT (Hotel Administration 251). Credit three hours. Hotel elective. Open to upperclassmen and graduates. Professor BERNATSKY.

An analysis of the principal operating problems in the restaurant field. Procedures, approaches, and techniques of management are explored and developed through case study, lecture, and discussion.

SEMINAR IN HOTEL ADMINISTRATION (Hotel Administration 153). Credit two, three, or four hours. Hotel elective. Open to a limited number of seniors in hotel administration. Those wishing to register should consult the instructor during the preceding semester to obtain permission to enroll and to confer regarding problems chosen for special study. Hours to be arranged. Professor MEEK.

Specific problems arising in the management of hotels.

SPECIAL STUDIES IN RESEARCH (Hotel Administration 253). Credit to be arranged. Open to graduate students in Hotel Administration only. Members of the graduate faculty.

Designed specifically for graduate students working on theses or other research projects. Any member of the graduate faculty of the School of Hotel Administration, upon consultation with the student, may be selected to direct a particular problem of special interest to the student.

LECTURERS ON HOTEL MANAGEMENT (Hotel Administration 155). Credit one hour. Hotel elective. Open to all classes. To be taken for credit each semester. Under the direction of Professor MEEK.

A series of lectures given by nonresident speakers prominent in the hotel, restaurant, and allied fields.

LAW OF BUSINESS (Hotel Administration 171). Credit three hours. Required. Open to upperclassmen. Mr. TREMAN.

An elementary course on the law of business.

LAW AS RELATED TO INNKEEPING (Hotel Administration 172). Credit two hours. Hotel elective. Open to upperclassmen and graduates. Best taken after Hotel Administration 171. Professor SHERRY.

A consideration of the legal problems of the innkeeper.

LAW OF BUSINESS: CONTRACTS, BAILMENTS, AND AGENCY * (Hotel Administration 272). Credit two hours. Hotel elective. Open to upperclassmen and graduates. Best taken after Hotel Accounting 182 and Economics 104. Professor SHERRY.

A study of the formation, validity, enforcement, and breach of contracts; sales and dealings in personal property, bailments, storage, and shipment of goods; the laws of principal and agent and employer and employee.

LAW OF BUSINESS: PARTNERSHIPS AND CORPORATIONS * (Hotel Administration 274). Credit two hours. Hotel elective. Open to upperclassmen and graduates. Best taken after Hotel Accounting 182 and Economics 104. Professor SHERRY.

A consideration of the formation, operation, and management of partnerships and corporations; the laws of negotiable instruments; and insolvency and bankruptcy.

HOTEL PUBLIC RELATIONS * (Hotel Administration 176). Credit one hour. Hotel elective. Recommended for juniors and seniors.

Methods and channels through which the hotel may obtain favorable public recognition.

HOTEL PROMOTION * (Hotel Administration 178). Credit one hour. Hotel elective. Recommended for upperclassmen. Mr. KOEHL.

A discussion of the fundamentals of sales promotion, with special attention to the various mediums profitably used by hotels.

SALES PROMOTION * (Hotel Administration 278). Credit one hour. Hotel elective. Open to upperclassmen and graduates. Mr. PHILLIPS.

The hotel sales department, its function, organization, records, and procedures are discussed.

The course is arranged with the cooperation and assistance of the Hotel Sales Managers Association. At each session a different member of the Association, chosen by the Association in consultation with the School for his expertness in some one phase of sales promotion, discusses that phase and under the coordination of the instructor leads the discussion of the subject.

HOTEL ADVERTISING * (Hotel Administration 179). Credit one hour. Hotel elective. Open to upperclassmen and graduates. Mr. GROHMANN.

The fundamentals of magazine, newspaper, radio, television, and outdoor advertising, direct mail, printed material and publicity, and the part each plays in a coordinated business promotion program. Detailed discussions are included of the different methods of building business that are being successfully used by various types of hotels and restaurants.

The lectures and demonstrations also illustrate the mechanical processes of producing advertising material, giving students a working knowledge of the advantages and disadvantages of each process.

FRONT-OFFICE PROCEDURE * (Hotel Administration 188). Credit one hour. Hotel elective. Open to juniors and seniors and to lowerclassmen by permission.

A study of the physical layout of equipment in the hotel front office, of the procedure used in registering and checking out guests and of keeping the accounts of guests.

GENERAL SURVEY OF REAL ESTATE * (Hotel Administration 191). Credit two hours. Hotel elective. Prerequisite, Economics 104 or its equivalent.

A survey of the real estate field, with particular emphasis on the economic, legal, and technical aspects of real estate. Lectures and problems cover interests in real property, liens, taxes, contracts, auctions, deeds, mortgages, titles, leases, brokerage, management, and financing.

FUNDAMENTALS OF REAL ESTATE MANAGEMENT * (Hotel Administration 192). Credit two hours. Hotel elective. Open to upperclassmen and graduates. Prerequisite, Economics 104 or its equivalent.

The fundamentals of urban-land economics. Emphasis is placed upon the changing character of the urban economy and its influence upon land values, development, and utilization. The aim is to acquaint students with the economic principles governing the development and utilization of land and values.

FIRE AND INLAND MARINE INSURANCE (Hotel Administration 196). Credit three hours. Hotel elective. Upperclassmen and graduates. Mr. McNEILL.

Fire and inland marine insurance, including such topics as the form of the policy, insurable interest, the risk assumed, improving and rating property, business interruption, rent and leasehold, adjustment of loss, co-insurance, appraisals.

* Courses marked with an asterisk are given in alternate years or as the demand requires. Other courses are ordinarily given at least once a year, but in any case offerings are adjusted to the requirements.

The School's library, directed by a full-time librarian, provides students and faculty with 9,000 books and periodicals on all aspects of hotel, motel, restaurant, and institution operation.

LIABILITY, COMPENSATION, AND CASUALTY INSURANCE (Hotel Administration 197). Credit three hours. Hotel elective. Upperclassmen and graduates. Mr. McNEILL. Liability, compensation, and other forms of casualty insurance, the scope of the coverage, and analysis of the policies. Application of the laws of negligence.

TOURISM * (Hotel Administration 56). Credit one hour. Hotel elective.

Given by a representative of one of the large travel and tour directing organizations. Deals with the volume and dollar value of foreign and domestic tourist and business travel, the areas and groups who constitute the source of tourist business, the attractions that draw them, the conveyances and routings they use, and the matters of rates, foreign exchange, and passport and health requirements.

INTERIOR DESIGN FOR HOTELS * (Housing and Design 130). Credit two hours. Hotel elective. Open to juniors and seniors. Associate Professor MILLICAN.

The methods and procedures inherent in interior designing are studied and used with special emphasis on problems common to hotels and related public places. The studio problems, informal lectures, and discussions deal with the planning of color, fabrics, and lighting. Emphasis is placed on the understanding of floor plans and traffic circulation and the choice of furnishings.

ECONOMICS AND FINANCE

Of the large number of courses in economics, statistics, sociology, history, and government open to hotel students, only those frequently taken by them are described here. Full details regarding the others are given in the Announcement of the College of Arts and Sciences. Hours and instructors are to be announced each term.

MODERN ECONOMIC SOCIETY (Economics 103). Credit three hours. Open to a limited number of freshmen. Associate Professor Dowd and assistants.

A survey of the existing economic order, its more salient and basic characteristics, and its operations.

MODERN ECONOMIC SOCIETY (Economics 104). Credit three hours. Prerequisite, Economics 103. Associate Professor Dowd and assistants.

FINANCE † (Business and Public Administration 104). Credit three hours. Open to seniors and graduate students who have taken Economics 104. Permission of the instructor is required. Professor NILSSON and Associate Professor HOLMES.

An introduction to the principles and prac-

PRINCIPLES OF CITY AND REGIONAL PLANNING (Architecture 710). Credit three hours. Open to upperclassmen. Associate Professor REPS.

A review of the basic influences in the development of cities. A general view of the theory and accepted practice of city and regional planning, including a study of the social, economic, and legal phases. Lectures, assigned readings, and examinations.

MAN AND SOCIETY (Sociology 101). Either term. Credit three hours. Open to all students although primarily intended for freshmen. May not be taken for credit by those who have taken Rural Sociology 1. Associate Professor STREIB.

A general introduction to the principles and methods of sociology. An analysis of the basic structure of human society with particular attention to that of the contemporary United States. Emphasis is placed on major institutions: the family, social classes, ethnic groups, associations, social aspects of economic and political organization. Attention is also given to the role of primary groups and social factors in personality formation.

GENERAL GEOGRAPHY (Geology 105).

Credit three hours. Assistant Professor —. An introduction to geography including space relationships, world climates, soils, and geographic provinces. Land use, the natural resources of selected regions, and trade in these resources will be emphasized.

tices of finance and their application in business and public administration. The uses of financial instruments, problems of short-term and capital financing, methods of security distribution, financial expansion and reorganization, and the operation of specialized financial institutions and money and capital markets are surveyed. Considerable attention will be given to the methods of financing current operations and to the financial problems of small business. The regulatory aspects of government financial controls are discussed.

PRICES † (Agricultural Economics 115). Credit three hours. Open to juniors, seniors, and graduate students. Professor ROBINSON.

A study of the factors affecting prices and methods of price analysis.

* Courses marked with an asterisk are given in alternate years or as the demand requires. Other courses are ordinarily given at least once a year, but in any case offerings are adjusted to the requirements.

† Will satisfy the requirement of elective work in economics.

TAXATION † (Agricultural Economics 138). Credit three hours. Open to upperclassmen who have taken Economics 104 or the equivalent. Professor KENDRICK.

A study of the principles and practices of public finance, with emphasis on taxation. Among the topics examined are the growth of public expenditures and its causes; historical changes over time in sources of revenue; and property, inheritance, business, and personal income taxation.

PRIVATE ENTERPRISE AND PUBLIC POLICY IN THE MODERN ECONOMY † (Business and Public Administration 202). Credit three hours. Open to seniors and graduate students who have taken Economics 104. Permission of the instructor is required. Professor HUTCHINS.

An integrating course dealing with the interrelations of business and public policies. To provide a backdrop, the course of the American economy since about 1920 is traced. Particular attention is paid to the evolution of public policies which have been of important interest to business leadership, especially with respect to such matters as industrial organization, transportation, power, agriculture, trade, and finance. Conversely, characteristic business policies are discussed from the point of view of their effects on the national welfare. Long-run evaluations of selected business administrations are made by means of historical case studies. Lectures, cases, and discussion.

MONEY AND BANKING † (Economics 301). Credit three hours. Prerequisite, Economics 104. Associate Professor GOLAY and Assistant Professor RICE.

A study of the monetary system of the United States with emphasis on the roles played by the commercial and central banks; included is a survey of monetary theory and the influence of credit and monetary measures on economic stability.

FINANCIAL HISTORY OF THE UNITED STATES † (Economics 308). Credit three hours. Prerequisite, Economics 104. Professor O'LEARY.

A study of changing financial institutions, problems, and legislation from 1775 until 1940 with a brief introduction covering the colonial period. Monetary media, banking systems, and public finance will be dealt with against the changing background of American economic society. Readings, lectures, discussions, and reports.

ECONOMICS OF WAGES AND EMPLOYMENT † (Industrial and Labor Relations 340). Credit three hours. Prerequisite, Economics 104. Professor TOLLES.

Analysis of the major characteristics of the labor market. Topics include the labor force, theories of wages and employment, wage-level determination at the firm and industry level, determinants of trade union wage policy, and compatibility of stable prices and full employment.

DEVELOPMENT OF THE AMERICAN ECONOMY AND BUSINESS ENTERPRISE † (Business and Public Administration 375). Credit three hours. Limited to seniors who have taken Economics 104. Permission of the instructor is required. Professor HUTCHINS.

A study of the development of significant features of the modern economy and of modern business. Attention is particularly focused on the period 1790-1890. European developments of significance to the United States are discussed. Against the general economic background, careful study is given to selected case studies illustrating business organization, policy, and practice of the time. The features and concepts of public economic policy are also studied, in part by the case method.

BUSINESS POLICY AND ECONOMIC INSTABILITY † (Business and Public Administration 376). Credit three hours. Open to seniors who have taken Economics 104. Permission of the instructor is required. Professor DE CHAZEAU.

A study of problems posed by national employment objectives for our private enterprise system. Government monetary-fiscal policies, existing and proposed, are studied from the viewpoint of the nation's economic accounts, the known characteristics of business fluctuations, and the mutual requirements of business and government policy formulation. Particular attention is given to the impact of public action on business policy and to securing business action contributory to economic stability.

COMPETITIVE BEHAVIOR AND PUBLIC POLICY † (Business and Public Administration 377). Credit three hours. Open to seniors who have taken Economics 104. Permission of the instructor is required. Professor DE CHAZEAU.

A study of competitive behavior in market structures importantly affected by large corporate units and organized self-interest groups. Particular attention is given to the determination of public interest in the formulation and administration of the law as applied to business policies and business organization. The possibilities of workable competition are explored from the viewpoint of practicable public policy and of the essential requirements of efficient performance in a dynamic society.

† Will satisfy the requirement of elective work in economics.

BUSINESS FORECASTING † (Business and Public Administration 378). Credit three hours. Open to seniors and graduate students who have taken Economics 104. Permission of the instructor is required. Assistant Professor SMIDT.

The primary objective is to develop in students the skills and knowledge needed to prepare economic forecasts. Consideration will be given to the forecasting of important general economic indicators such as Gross National Product and its major components, and to the analysis of demand and supply situations in specific industries. Long-term projections of up to thirty years will be considered, as well as the more usual short-term forecasts for a quarter or a year ahead. The student familiarizes himself with the current and past behavior of important times series and to prepare specific forecasts.

LABOR CONDITIONS AND PROBLEMS † (Economics 401). Credit three hours. Prerequisite, Economics 104 or the equivalent. Professor MONTGOMERY.

A survey of labor economics; an analysis of the basic industrial-relations problems emerging from modern economic arrangements; an examination of the economic and other implications of various employer, trade-union, and government attacks upon these problems.

PRIVATE ENTERPRISE AND PUBLIC POLICY † (Economics 501). Credit three hours. Prerequisite, Economics 104. Professor KAHN.

The approach to public policy in a private enterprise system in the light of the economist's concepts of competition and monopoly. An analysis and appraisal of the prevalence and effectiveness of competition in the American economy, with particular emphasis on the business organization, the price, production and marketing policies, and the economic performance of a range of industries with varying degrees of market concentration and governmental intervention.

CORPORATE ENTERPRISE IN THE AMERICAN ECONOMY † (Economics 511). Credit three hours. Prerequisite, Economics 104. Professor O'LEARY.

An examination of the American business corporation as an economic institution. After a historical introduction, attention will be given to the current status of and problems created by the business corporation as the dominant device for ordering the allocation and administering the use of economic resources in the United States. Among the topics treated will be separation of ownership and management; segments of interest; reinvestment of earnings and the saving-investment process; decision making in relation to taxation of corporations; the various forms of investment contract; government regulation; the public benefit corporation.

TRANSPORTATION † (Business and Public Administration 575). Credit three hours. Limited to seniors. Permission of the instructor is required. Prerequisite, Economics 104. Professor HUTCHINS.

A study of the pricing and marketing of transportation service, and of the system of regulation of inland transportation. Among the topics covered are the effects of rate systems on commercial and industrial organization; the economic theory of rates; rate structures; the evolution of regulatory policy; the regulatory process; the making of individual rates; rate and service problems in competitive marketing of service; passenger rates and service; the interpretation of certain important provisions of the Interstate Commerce Act; the intercarrier relations. These topics are developed primarily with reference to rail and motor carrier transportation.

INTRODUCTION TO INTERNATIONAL ECONOMICS † (Economics 603). Credit three hours. Prerequisite, Economics 104. Professor MORSE.

A survey of the principles that have evolved as guides for the determination of international economic policies. Topics include balance of payments, foreign exchange, theory of trade and tariffs, capital movements, and international adjustment mechanisms. Attention is paid to the historical evolution of principles, policies, and institutions from precapitalist origins to 1914.

MODERN INTERNATIONAL ECONOMIC PROBLEMS † (Economics 604). Credit three hours. Prerequisite, Economics 104; Economics 603 recommended. Professor MORSE. A continuation of Economics 603, dealing with the major problems, theories, and policies of the period since World War I. Emphasis is placed on the role and development of American policies with respect to the special problems created by two wars and a great depression, and the more general problems of a world in which the United States stands between the older industrialized and the developing but as yet nonindustrialized countries.

NATIONAL INCOME AND WEALTH † (Economics 823). Credit three hours. Prerequisite, Economics 104 or the equivalent. Professor COPELAND.

An examination of social accounting measurements and related statistical measurements of general economic activity together with illustrations of their use in aggregative economic analysis and economic projections.

† Will satisfy the requirement of elective work in economics.

These Hotel Administration students in the mechanical drawing course, as one of their assigned projects, will turn in a complete revision of plans for an apartment hotel that is being converted into a commercial hotel. In preparing their plans, they must make use of as much of the present structure as is feasible.

ENGINEERING

For instruction in the field of hotel, motel, and restaurant engineering, Statler Hall has an especially designed and equipped lecture room, two drafting rooms, and three especially equipped laboratories, all used exclusively for studying, demonstrating, and testing the mechanical equipment typically used in hotels and restaurants. In addition, a wide variety of modern apparatus, which is in service in Statler Hall and in other campus buildings, is studied from an engineering viewpoint.

The engineering drafting room uses a variety of scale models and prints of many actual building floor plans, guest room arrangements, dining room seatings, and kitchen layouts. Engineering laboratory equipment includes fire fighting equipment, vacuum cleaners, full-size bathroom units, plumbing fixtures, pipe fitting equipment, pumps driven by electricity and by steam, a hot water heater, ventilating fan equipment, an oil-fired boiler, motor generator sets, alternating and direct current motors, electric control equipment, wiring devices, meters, illumination equipment and mechanical refrigeration testing units including compressors, condensers, and refrigeration controls. Scale models of kitchen equipment are used for developing layouts. Plans and equipment catalogs furnish the background for work in hotel and motel planning.

In hotel engineering, a total of 15 hours is the required minimum consisting of five 3-hour courses. Courses in hotel engineering chosen beyond the 15 total required hours may be counted as Hotel electives. The recommended sequence for continuity of instruction is:

First year	H.E. 260 in either term
	First term	Second term
Second year	H.E. 261	H.E. 262 or H.E. 266
Third year	H.E. 263	H.E. 264
Fourth year	H.E. 267	H.E. 265

DRAWING (Hotel Engineering 260). Credit three hours. Required. Mr. SCHNEIDER. Mechanical, architectural, and freehand drawing leading to practical representation and interpretation of typical hotel and restaurant applications.

SPECIAL HOTEL EQUIPMENT (Hotel Engineering 261). Credit three hours. Mr. SCHNEIDER.

Studies of kitchen equipment, planning; laundry machinery, layouts; fire protection; vacuum cleaning; graphic presentation.

WATER SYSTEMS (Hotel Engineering 262).

Credit three hours. Mr. SCHNEIDER.

Plumbing systems and fixtures, water treatment, sewage disposal, pipe fitting, pumping equipment, and their relation to the plumbing code.

STEAM HEATING (Hotel Engineering 263).

Credit three hours. For juniors. Professor SAYLES.

Basic principles of heating and ventilating, with practical applications including fuels, boilers, radiators, fans, automatic controls.

ELECTRICAL EQUIPMENT (Hotel Engineering 264). Credit three hours. Professor SAYLES.

Electrical theory and practice; equipment and control devices including motors, wiring systems, elevators, rate schedules, illumination.

HOTEL PLANNING (Hotel Engineering 265).

Credit three hours. Limited to seniors and graduates, preferably after H.E. 261, 262, and 263. Mr. SCHNEIDER.

Design of the layout for a proposed hotel, emphasizing site solution, floor plans, guest room layouts, and the selection and arrangement of equipment in all the various departments.

HOTEL STRUCTURES AND MAINTENANCE (Hotel Engineering 266).

Credit three hours. Professor SAYLES.

Materials and methods of building construction, repair, and maintenance. Emphasis on trade practices and building codes. Specification and repair of hotel furniture.

REFRIGERATION (Hotel Engineering 267).

Credit three hours. Professor SAYLES.

Theory and practice of mechanical refrigeration and air conditioning. Typical hotel and restaurant applications including frozen-food storage.

The assignment of these students in refrigeration and air conditioning is to find and correct an "error" planted in this compressor. The machine is used for large cold-storage units.

FOOD FACILITIES ENGINEERING

In addition to the general facilities of Statler Hall, the instruction in Food Facilities Engineering has assigned for its exclusive use a large drafting room with extra large tables. Extensive catalogue files are maintained covering the wide array of food and beverage service equipment. Numerous prints of layouts are studied as examples of fundamental design as well as details customarily given on plans. Samples of fabricated equipment in cross-section illustrate preferred construction methods. The kitchens of Statler Hall and of other campus food facilities provide examples of typical applications.

Especially planned courses dealing with mass feeding start with the first stages of development programing and continue through logical sequence into more advanced and detailed work. The following schedule suggests appropriate terms during which courses should be taken for full coverage of all Food Facilities Engineering courses:

Term	Course
Second to eighth	F.F.E. 360 Preliminary Programing
Third to eighth	F.F.E. 361 Preliminary Planning
Fourth, sixth, eighth	F.F.E. 362 Layout and Design
Fifth or seventh	F.F.E. 363 Specifications, Shop Drawings, and Contract Supervision

PRELIMINARY PROGRAMING—PROSPECTUS DEVELOPMENT (Food Facilities Engineering 360). Credit two hours. Hotel elective. Associate Professor BANGS.

Lectures deal with the first-stage planning, which must be done by the owner or his consultant for any project of mass feeding. This course outlines the many factors that must be programed in order to satisfy the merchandising objective, determine the menu, plan for the particular type of service to be employed, and outline the over-all facilities that are to be planned and designed into a restaurant, club, hotel, hospital, or other institutional feeding establishment.

PRELIMINARY PLANNING—EQUIPMENT SELECTION AND LAYOUT (Food Facilities Engineering 361). Credit three hours.

Hotel elective. Prerequisite, Food Facilities Engineering 360 or permission of instructor. Associate Professor BANGS.

Lecture and laboratory. Review of the preliminary program. Studies to determine the type, capacity, quantity, and quality of all food service equipment to be selected. Determination of facts pertinent to the over-all project; architectural, structural, and mechanical features, plus consideration of sanitary codes that effect the layout. Schematic drawing studies of equipment, departmental, and over-all food service layouts. Term project involves research and drawing room time to make a complete, preliminary equipment layout with a schedule for all required equipment.

LAYOUTS AND DESIGN—WORKING DRAWINGS (Food Facilities Engineering 362). Credit three hours. Hotel elective.

Prerequisite, Food Facilities Engineering 361 or permission of instructor. Associate Professor BANGS.

Lectures, research, and laboratory work are involved in this continuation of Food Facilities Engineering 361. Working drawings (contract drawings), are developed, including equipment and architectural plans, mechanical plans, equipment detail drawings, and equipment schedules, which are required for bidding, construction, and installation. The term project begun in Food Facilities Engineering 361 is further developed through necessary revisions required to complete the over-all food facilities layout, draw the mechanical plan, and make schematic sketch designs essential for custom-built equipment.

SPECIFICATIONS, SHOP DRAWINGS, AND CONTRACT SUPERVISION (Food Facilities Engineering 363). Credit three hours.

Hotel elective. Prerequisite, Food Facilities Engineering 362. Associate Professor BANGS. Lectures and laboratory work deal with study of general and itemized specifications; bid analysis and awarding of contracts; checking and approving shop drawings; field supervision, inspection, and field conferences; and operational instruction. The term project continues the project carried through in Food Facilities Engineering 362 to the completion of working drawings, writing of equipment specifications, and the roughing-in drawings and shop drawings.

Professor O. Ernest Bangs, in the Food Facilities Engineering laboratory, assists a group of students who are working on the redesign of an actual kitchen to produce 1,000 meals a day.

FOOD AND FOOD SCIENCE

Statler Hall provides excellent facilities for instruction in all aspects of foods; in the purchasing, storage, preparation, and service of food as well as of wines and liquors; and in basic science. Among the facilities are: (1) The "Oscar of the Waldorf" lecture room, a sloping-floor auditorium seating 133, equipped with a laboratory demonstration table, sink, and roll-away range; (2) two elementary food laboratories, each accommodating 20 students and each equipped with 20 stoves and 40 sinks as well as extensive stainless steel work spaces and all necessary mechanical equipment; (3) a 40-place basic chemistry laboratory and a 40-place food chemistry laboratory for the School's organized courses in food chemistry; and (4) the series of practice kitchens of the Statler Inn where the students prepare under instruction the food for the various Statler Inn and Statler Club dining rooms (seating in total nearly a thousand).

These kitchens are laid out to function both as quantity food production centers and as training centers for prospective hotelmen and restaurateurs learning food production on a large-quantity basis. The equipment, all of commercial size and of the latest design, duplicated in gas and electricity, is so varied that the student has the opportunity to use and to analyze a wide range of modern kitchen appliances. The student lounge kitchen is designed for the use of students in support of their daily coffee hour and their parties and receptions.

The recently constructed Alice Statler Auditorium wing has added important new facilities, including: (1) a laboratory for cutting and portioning meats, poultry, and fish, supported by extensive refrigerator and freezer storage units, power equipment, and testing devices; (2) a lecture demonstration area for instruction in the selection and grading of meats, poultry, and fish; (3) a 40-place laboratory for the study of the scientific applications of chemical and physical principles to food production; and (4) a series of experimental kitchens for the testing of recipes and procedures.

All of these laboratories are for the exclusive use of the School's hotel and restaurant students. They are designed and equipped especially for their particular teaching functions. Besides the School's own laboratories, the students have access to and frequently use the laboratory kitchens, cafeterias, and catering centers of the New York State College of Home Economics.

Regulation uniform of white coat, apron, and chef's cap is furnished by the student and is required for the first food laboratory.

FOOD AND NUTRITION (Hotel Administration 120). Credit three hours. Required. MRS. KENDRICK, MRS. KELSEY.

A course in the techniques and theories of food preparation. The laboratory periods give practice in the preparation of food in small quantities; lay the foundation for later work in large-quantity food preparation; and develop an appreciation for food of the highest standards. Basic nutrition and meal planning are included.

QUANTITY FOOD PREPARATION, ELEMENTARY COURSE (Institution Management 200). Credit three hours. (This course plus one hour of Hotel elective may be substituted for Hotel Administration 201.) Prerequisite, Hotel Administration 120, 214, and 215. Assistant Professor CONNAUGHTON. Emphasis is placed upon understanding the principles of food production that underlie the service of high quality, nutritious food in quantity; recipe standardization; food cost control; menu planning; use of institution equipment; sanitation; observation of management and personnel problems. Students have one meal on laboratory days.

QUANTITY FOOD PREPARATION: MANAGEMENT OF THE OPERATION (Hotel Administration 201). Credit four hours. Required. Prerequisite, Hotel Administration 120, 214, 215, 220. Mr. BOND.

Large quantity cooking in the Statler Inn kitchen of luncheons and dinners served to 200 to 350 patrons. The student manager for the week plans the menus, prepares food requisitions, supervises preparation and service, and submits a report and analysis on his operation. Discussion periods review principles and methods applied in laboratory periods. Quality and cost control are emphasized. The use of standardized formulas and techniques in relation to non-standardized practices is demonstrated. Sanitary, safe, and economical use of food and of equipment as well as cooking and serving space are stressed.

Students have one meal in the cafeteria on laboratory days.

CLASSICAL CUISINE (Hotel Administration 202). Credit two hours. Hotel elective. Prerequisite, Hotel Administration 201 or Institution Management 200, 210 or equivalent experience.

The laboratory exercise consists of planning, preparing, and serving to the patrons of the Statler Club a dinner in the style of the classical French cuisine under the direction of visiting chefs from successful operations. The student has the opportunity to prepare and serve expensive and unusual entrées, elaborate appetizers, and exhibition desserts.

SMORGASBORD (Hotel Administration 203).

Credit two hours. Hotel elective. Prerequisites, Hotel Administration 220, Quantity Food Preparation 200, 201, 210 or equivalent experience.

The laboratory consists of planning, preparing, and serving the food for a "glorified" buffet or Smorgasbord served each Sunday evening for the Statler Inn dining room to an average of two hundred patrons.

MEATS, POULTRY, AND FISH (Hotel Administration 206). Credit three hours. Required. Associate Professor WANDERSTOCK.

Deals with the major phases of meats, poultry, and fish from the hotel, restaurant, club, and institutional standpoint; nutritive value, structure and composition, sanitation, selection and purchasing, cutting, freezing, cooking, carving, and miscellaneous topics. Required three-day field trip to visit purveyors in New York City included. Estimated cost for this trip ranges between $30 and $40.

QUANTITY FOOD PREPARATION: PRINCIPLES AND METHODS (Institution Management 210). Credit four hours. May be substituted for Hotel Administration 201. Prerequisite, Hotel Administration 120, 214, and 215. Associate Professor CUTLAR.

Emphasis is placed upon understanding the principles of food production that underlie the service of high quality, nutritious food in quantity; recipe standardization; food cost control; menu planning; use of institution equipment; sanitation; observation of management and personnel problems. Students have one meal on laboratory days.

CHEMISTRY AND ITS APPLICATION TO FOOD PREPARATION (Hotel Administration 214). Credit five hours. Required. Associate Professor SMITH and staff.

General chemistry related where possible to the principles and practices of food preparation; an introduction to organic and colloid chemistry. In the laboratory each student performs simple chemical experiments chosen on the basis of their applicability to the field of food preparation. Hotel Administration 215 should be taken the following term.

CHEMISTRY AND ITS APPLICATION TO FOOD PREPARATION (Hotel Administration 215). Credit five hours. Required. Prerequisite, Hotel Administration 214 or equivalent. Associate Professor SMITH and staff.

Inorganic, organic, and colloidal chemistry are applied to the study of food preparation. The influence of kind and proportion of ingredients and methods of manipulation and of cookery on food products such as Joseph Baum (Class of '43) vice president, and Albert Stockli, executive chef, Restaurant Associates, New York City, demonstrate the preparation of specialties.

Professor J. J. Wanderstock points out the marbling in a "U.S. Choice" round of beef to a group of students in his meats laboratory in Statler Hall.

muffins, candy, vegetables, eggs, meat, yeast bread, pastry, and mixes are discussed.

(1) Basic nutritional values are included, as well as a consideration of food additives, their composition and role in food products.

(2) In the food laboratory, food products and methods of preparation of special interest to the hotelman are emphasized. The food products are scored subjectively, and the application of scientific principles to the interpretation of results is emphasized.

(3) The student has an opportunity to experience the preparation and taste of foods under a variety of conditions, from which he should learn to recognize culinary quality while understanding factors contributing to it.

FOOD PREPARATION (Hotel Administration 220). Credit three hours. Required. Prerequisite, Hotel Administration 120 or its equivalent. Associate Professor ERICSON. Experience in the preparation of dishes adapted to hotel and restaurant service, such as special meat dishes, planked platters, entrees, chicken and turkey (includes boning), fish, vegetables, soups, and sauces, salads, canapes and hors d'oeuvres, fancy breads, pastry, cookies, cake decorating, and desserts.

FOOD SELECTION AND PURCHASE (Institution Management 220). Credit three hours. Hotel elective. Open to juniors and seniors. Permission of instructor required. Associate Professor MOORE.

A discussion of sources, standards of quality, grades, methods of purchase, care, and storage of various classes of food. A one-day trip to Elmira, Syracuse, or Rochester markets will be included.

SANITATION IN THE FOOD SERVICE OPERATION (Hotel Administration 221). Credit one hour. Hotel elective. Mr. BOND and Dr. WHITE.

The causes and prevention of food poisoning are stressed. Included are the aesthetic, moral, and legal responsibilities involved in presenting sanitary food to patrons as well as the profit and loss factors.

FOOD PRESERVATION (Hotel Administration 226). Credit two hours. Hotel elective. Dr. TRESSLER.

Covers the general principles of food preservation; drying and dehydration of foods; refrigeration above and below freezing; pasteurization; canning; fermentation; salting and pickling; smoking and curing; food preservation with chemical additives and with radiation.

Mrs. E. M. Statler and Mr. Conrad Hilton are luncheon guests of the School.

SPECIAL PROBLEMS IN FOODS (Hotel Administration 353). Spring term. Credit two hours. Permission of instructors required. Prerequisites, Hotel Administration 120, 220, 206, and Quantity Food Preparation. Associate Professor ERICSON and WANDERSTOCK.

A seminar course for upperclassmen and graduate students designed to examine in detail various aspects of foods and food service in hotels, restaurants, and clubs.

STEWARDESSING * (Hotel Administration 118). Credit two hours. Hotel elective. Open to sophomores, juniors, and seniors.

Problems of restaurant operation, such as purchasing, preparation, service, and control phases of steward operations.

FOOD AND BEVERAGES MERCHANDISING (Hotel Administration 122). Credit two hours. Hotel elective. Open to upperclassmen and graduates. Assistant Professor CONNER.

Problems of restaurant operation, including menu construction, food service, establishing a merchandising policy, setting and maintaining standards, and beverage merchandizing. Students utilize knowledge gained in other purchasing courses.

COMMERCIAL AIRLINE FEEDING (Hotel Administration 123). Credit one hour. Hotel elective. Assistant Professor CONNER.

A survey of a growing and important segment of the food service industry. Goes beyond in-flight food service, covering customer service, reservation-terminal and in-flight service, airline sales promotion, and a comparison of domestic and international airline operations.

MENU PLANNING * (Hotel Administration 124). Credit one hour. Hotel elective.

Principles of menu planning for hotels, restaurants, clubs, and institutional service, with particular emphasis on history and development, types and uses, format and organization, and pricing aspects.

WINES * (Hotel Administration 125). Credit one hour. Hotel elective. Open to upperclassmen and graduates.

The study of grape culture, cellar techniques, still wines, champagne, New York and California wines, foreign wines, wine cookery, wine storage and service.

GENERAL BACTERIOLOGY (Bacteriology 1). Credit six hours. Hotel elective. Prerequisite, Chemistry 102 or Hotel Administration 215. Professor SEELEY and assistants.

* Courses marked with an asterisk are given in alternate years or as the demand requires. Other courses are ordinarily given at least once a year, but in any case offerings are adjusted to the requirements.

An introductory course; a general survey of the field of bacteriology, with the fundamentals essential to further work in the subject.

NUTRITION AND HEALTH (Food and Nutrition 190). Credit two hours. Hotel elective. Professor HAUCK.

The relationship of food to the maintenance of health and its importance to the individual and to society.

GENERAL BIOLOGY (Biology 1). Throughout the year. Credit three hours a term. Assistant Professor KEETON.

This course is designed to acquaint students majoring within or outside the animal and plant sciences with the established principles of biology, and with the body of research that led to the formulation of these principles.

HUMAN PHYSIOLOGY (Veterinary Medicine 303). Credit three hours. Prerequisite, a course in biology and in chemistry either in high school or college. Professor DYE.

An introductory course presenting fundamentals and practical information concerning the physiological processes and systems of the human body.

HANDLING AND MARKETING OF VEGETABLE CROPS (Vegetable Crops 12). Credit three hours. Hotel elective. Professor HARTMAN.

The handling of vegetables at or after harvest, whether for fresh market or for processing; personnel, facilities, machinery, and organization of the industry; quality maintenance, quality measurements, and grade standards; federal, state, and other regulations; principles and practices in precooling, storage, packaging, prepackaging, transportation, and display.

ECONOMIC FRUITS OF THE WORLD* (Pomology 121). Credit three hours. Hotel elective. Professor BOYNTON.

A study of all species of fruit-bearing plants of economic importance, such as the date, the banana, the citrus fruits, the nut-bearing trees, and the newly introduced fruits, with special reference to their cultural requirements in the United States and its insular possessions. All fruits not considered in other courses are considered here. Designed to give a broad view of world pomology and its relationship with the fruit industry of New York State.

HOSPITAL ADMINISTRATION

Students enrolled in the School of Hotel Administration who are looking forward to work in the hospital field enroll in courses offered in Cornell's Sloan Institute of Hospital Administration, which is supported by a grant of $750,000 from the Alfred P. Sloan Foundation. Complete details of the courses are given in the Announcement of the Graduate School of Business and Public Administration.

HOUSEKEEPING

HOTEL HOUSEKEEPING* (Textiles 140a). Credit one hour. Hotel elective. Open to upperclassmen.

An outline of the responsibilities and techniques of the housekeeping department; the selection and purchase of equipment and materials; the selection, training, and supervision of department personnel.

INTERIOR DESIGN FOR HOTELS* (Housing and Design 130). Credit two hours. Hotel elective. Associate Professor MILLICAN.

TEXTILES FURNISHINGS (Textiles 370).^{*} Credit three hours. Hotel elective. Associate Professor SROUT.

A general survey of the textile fiber field in relation to technological developments, economic conditions, legislations, and standards. Fiber, finish, and other processing are discussed in relation to price, specific end-use, and maintenance. Students become acquainted with the types and qualities available on the market of widely used textile furnishings, such as blankets, sheets, towels, mattresses, rugs, draperies, upholstery fabrics, and curtains.

* Courses marked with an asterisk are given in alternate years or as the demand requires. Other courses are ordinarily given at least once a year, but in any case offerings are adjusted to the requirements.

LANGUAGE AND COMMUNICATION

An extensive variety of courses in the art of communication, in English composition, in public speaking, in the fluent use of foreign languages, and in the literature of the English and other languages is open to election by hotel students. Space for the description of only a few of them is available here. Full details regarding the others will be found in the Announcement of the College of Arts and Sciences. Particularly noteworthy for the hotel student are the very effective conversational-method courses in modern languages. Six semester hours of foreign languages may be counted among the required hotel electives.

INTRODUCTORY COURSES IN READING AND WRITING (English 111-112).

Throughout the year. Credit three hours a term. Required. English 111 is prerequisite to 112. Professor ELIAS and others.

The aim is to increase the student's ability to communicate his own thought and to understand the thought of others. Reading and discussion of expository prose, with attention to ways of developing and expressing ideas; practice in composition, with attention to sound thinking and effective writing.

ORAL AND WRITTEN EXPRESSION (Extension Teaching 101).

Credit two hours. Accepted for required expression. Open to juniors and seniors. Professor PEABODY, Associate Professors FREEMAN and MARTIN, and staff.

Practice in oral and written presentation of topics in agriculture and other fields, with criticism and individual appointments on the technique of public speech. Designed to encourage interest in public affairs, and, through demonstrations and the use of graphic material and other forms, to train for effective self-expression in public. Special training is given to competitors for the Eastman prizes for public speaking and in the Rice Debate contest.

ORAL AND WRITTEN EXPRESSION (Extension Teaching 102).

Credit two hours. Accepted for required expression. Prerequisite, Extension Teaching 101, of which 102 is a continuation. Professor PEABODY and Associate Professors FREEMAN and MARTIN. A part of the work consists of a study of parliamentary practice.

PUBLIC SPEAKING (Speech and Drama 201).

Credit three hours. Accepted for required expression. Not open to freshmen, or to students who have taken Speech and Drama 103 or 105. Professor WICHELS, Associate Professor ARNOLD, and others.

Designed to help the student express his convictions clearly and effectively in oral discourse. Study of basic principles of expository and persuasive speaking with emphasis on selecting, evaluating, and organizing of materials, and on simplicity and directness in style and delivery. Practice in preparation and delivery of speeches on current issues, in reading aloud, and in chairmanship; study of examples; conferences.

The services of the Speech Clinic are available to those students who need remedial exercises. Students whose native language is not English must obtain special clearance from the Department of Speech and Drama before registering.

THE TWENTIETH CENTURY (English 225-226).

Throughout the year. Credit three hours a term. First term not prerequisite to the second. Assistant Professor McCONKEY. British and American writers. Fall term: Dreiser, O'Neill, Joyce, Yeats, Lawrence, Forster, and others. Spring term: Frost, Eliot, Auden, Huxley, Waugh, Hemingway, Faulkner, and others.

THE AMERICAN LITERARY HERITAGE (English 229-230).

Throughout the year. Credit three hours a term. Open to freshmen who have completed English 113 or exempted English 112. Professor ELIAS and Assistant Professor SLATOFF.

A study of American literary masterpieces, together with certain British works chosen because of their relevance to American writing. First term: to the Civil War. Second term: the past hundred years.

The mastery of a foreign language is a mark of a well-educated man or woman. For the hotel man a second language is particularly desirable.

At Cornell the foreign languages are taught by modern methods that place special emphasis on speaking and understanding the spoken language. The daily classes are kept small. Native speakers and playback machines are extensively used.

FRENCH, ELEMENTARY COURSE (French 101).

Credit six hours.

GERMAN, ELEMENTARY COURSE (German 101).

Credit six hours.

A modern language class finds a classical setting in the spring sunshine.

ITALIAN, ELEMENTARY COURSE (Italian 101). Credit six hours.

PORTUGUESE, ELEMENTARY COURSE (Portuguese 111). Credit six hours.

RUSSIAN, ELEMENTARY COURSE (Russian 101). Credit six hours.

SPANISH, ELEMENTARY COURSE (Spanish 101). Credit six hours.

COURSES OF CULTURAL VALUE

As pointed out previously, the professional courses required in the curriculum of the School of Hotel Administration have much of general educational value. Students in the School have open to them, in addition, literally hundreds of courses in the other colleges of the University, courses whose value to them would be principally a cultural value. Hotel students are encouraged to take full advantage of their opportunities and acquaint themselves with other disciplines. It is not practical to list all the offerings from which they might select, but, to assist the student in making the beginning contact, the descriptions of a few of the more popular introductory courses are given below:

STUDIES IN AMERICAN CIVILIZATION (American Studies 301-302). Three hours each term.

SPECIAL FORMS OF WRITING (English 203). Three hours.

AMERICAN GOVERNMENT (Government 101). Three hours.

DEVELOPMENT OF WESTERN CIVILIZATION (History 103-104). Three hours each term.

AMERICAN HISTORY (History 151-152). Three hours each term.

MASTERWORKS OF WESTERN LITERATURE (Literature 101-102). Three hours each term.

PHILOSOPHICAL CLASSICS (Philosophy 101). Three hours.

DEVELOPMENT OF AMERICAN IDEALS (Industrial and Labor Relations 290-291). Three hours per term.

NEWS WRITING (Extension Teaching and Information 110). Two hours.

WRITING FOR MAGAZINES (Extension Teaching and Information 113). Two hours.

RADIO BROADCASTING AND TELECASTING (Extension Teaching and Information 120). Three hours.

TELEVISION PRODUCTION AND PROGRAMING (Extension Teaching and Information 122). Two hours.

FLOWER ARRANGEMENT (Floriculture and Ornamental Horticulture 5). Two hours.

HISTORY OF ARCHITECTURE (Architecture 400). Three hours.

Above: Major league players like Christy Mathewson and Lou Gehrig have played in college games on Hoy Field.

SECRETARIAL STUDIES

Students in the School of Hotel Administration whose initial employment may be in the role of personal secretary or administrative assistant are provided with instruction in the uses for and operation of the most modern office equipment. This instruction is open to a limited number of students from other divisions of the University, but enrollment in each course is subject to the approval of the instructor in charge.

TYPEWRITING (Hotel Secretarial Studies 37). Credit two hours. Hotel elective. Students should see the School registrar for sectioning. Mrs. SEABURG.

The personal needs of college students are met by this course in elementary typewriting. Instruction is given in the arrangement of business letters, reports, menus, and statistical data.

SHORTHAND THEORY (Hotel Secretarial Studies 131). Credit four hours. Hotel elective. Limited to juniors and seniors. Mrs. SEABURG.

The basis theory of Gregg shorthand is completed in this course, and the groundwork is laid for dictation and transcription. Enrollment in Hotel Secretarial Studies 132 is waived if the student passes a typewriting proficiency test during the first week of the term.

SECRETARIAL TYPEWRITING (Hotel Secretarial Studies 132). Credit two hours. Hotel elective. Mrs. SEABURG.

Touch typewriting is taught to students who do not already know the keyboard. Speed and accuracy in machine operation are developed to meet business standards. Instruction is given in the transcription of business forms from shorthand notes and dictation records. Some filing and duplication are included.

SECRETARIAL PROCEDURES (Hotel Secretarial Studies 138). Credit four hours. Hotel elective. Prerequisite, Hotel Secretarial Studies 131 and 132 or the equivalent.

Instruction in the major secretarial duties, including the composition of business letters, services for communication and transportation, and office management. Dictation and transcription speeds sufficient for the better types of office positions are developed.

MILITARY TRAINING

As a land-grant institution chartered under the Morrill Act of 1862, Cornell offers courses in military science which include all branches of the service (Army, Air Force, Navy, and Marines). Successful completion of such courses and receipt of a baccalaureate degree qualify a male student for a commission in the Regular or Reserve component of the appropriate service.

PHYSICAL EDUCATION AND ATHLETICS

The distinctive feature of athletics and physical education at Cornell is the de-emphasis of the great spectator sports like big-time varsity football, and the emphasis of participation by the average student in all-around varsity and intramural sports. The objective is to get every student into an athletic activity of some sort rather than to develop a special group of varsity athletes.

Cornell supports an unusually wide range of intercollegiate sports, twenty-one in all, five more than the average Ivy League institution and twice as many as most state institutions. Cornell furnishes the equipment and uniforms for these teams and provides the supervision, the coaches, the officials, the playing fields, and the travel expense. But comprehensive as is the intercollegiate activity, it is completely overshadowed by the less formal, but more interesting and healthful, intramural program. Under this program 1,556 contests in twenty sports among 651 teams organized into 65 leagues were held during the fall, winter, and spring of 1958-1959. Over 10,000 participants were involved. This extensive intramural program brings hundreds of students onto the playing fields every afternoon where the emphasis is less on the score than on having wholesome fun and exercise out of doors.

Hotel students field a number of teams for intercollege competition on the campus and most of them as individuals appear at one time or another on interfraternity or interdormitory teams.

Hotel students participate in the intercollegiate matches of the Ivy League in all major and minor sports. Equally attractive to most students is Cornell's outstanding intramural athletic program. The School of Hotel Administration fields teams in all major sports.

Fencing Coach Georges Cointe, Olympic champion, demonstrates a parry to Philip Mocquard (in mirror), Hotel student and team captain.

Ralph de Stefano, Hotel student, tests his prowess on the punching bag.

STUDENT ACTIVITIES

STUDENTS enrolled in the four-year course in hotel administration are members of the Cornell University undergraduate body. As such they participate in all the customary student activities; they represent the University on athletic teams, are members of the musical clubs, are cadet officers in the three Reserve Officers Training Corps, and hold office on the boards of student publications. They are eligible to membership in the social fraternities and in the appropriate honorary fraternities.

Hotel students also conduct among themselves a number of special enterprises in addition to those of the University as a whole. Every student is eligible to membership in the Cornell Hotel Association. By student election, upperclassmen who distinguish themselves in student projects win membership in Ye Hosts, the recognition organization. Ye Hosts act as a reception committee for the new students and for visiting hotelmen.

Under the auspices of the Cornell Hotel Association informal teams are organized to represent the School in intramural sports, a predominant feature of Cornell athletic activity. The Association is responsible for the annual Hotel Ezra Cornell, a project in connection with which the students organize and finance a hotel operating company, take over Statler Hall, and open and run it as a hotel with all the appropriate ceremony. They organize without faculty assistance a regular three-day convention program, including symposiums, workshops, and addresses with an appropriate concomitant array of social events, receptions, breakfasts, luncheons, buffets, cocktail parties, and dinners, for which all the planning, preparation, and service are student projects executed with the greatest finesse. In attendance are the presidents of the leading group hotel and restaurant organizations, chief executives and operators and managers of hotels, restaurants, and institutions of all types.

Each year a group of upperclassmen attends the convention of the New York State Hotel Association, visits the National Hotel Exposition, and makes a tour of inspection of metropolitan hotels. Groups also attend the National Restaurant Exposition in Chicago, the Midwest Hotel Exposition in Chicago, and the New England Hotel Exposition in Boston. The students participate in social functions associated with the conventions. With the alumni organization, the Cornell Society of Hotelmen, they entertain at smokers and receptions the hotelmen who are attending the conventions.

A chapter of the Junior Hotelmen of America and junior chapters of the Hotel Greeters of America and the Hotel Sales Management Association have been established in the student body.

PLACEMENT SERVICE

MORE and more employers are seeking young people with specific training, experience, and interest. In cooperation with the Cornell Society of Hotelmen the office of the School maintains an active and aggressive placement service to assist students in obtaining hotel jobs during the summer and to assist graduates in making contacts for permanent positions. A feature of the placement work is the development, through the annual Hotel Ezra Cornell opening and the attendance at hotel conventions and similar functions, of numerous contacts between students and hotelmen. As a result, the students and graduates have an extensive acquaintance among prospective employers.

A number of hotel and restaurant organizations offer "internship" or "trainee" programs to the members of the junior and senior classes. While the details vary among the organizations, all the programs contemplate a year or more of training with experience in all the departments and with supplemental instruction. In some cases no commitment is made by the employer or the trainee beyond the period of training. In others, more definite arrangements are made. Cooperating organizations have included the Waldorf-Astoria, the American Hotels Corporation, Hilton Hotels, Sheraton Hotels, Intercontinental Hotels, Stouffer Brothers, Inc., Greenfield's, and Howard Johnson's.

The School and its work are known to all important hotel and restaurant men. Many of these men contribute instruction either directly or through members of their staffs. Consequently, Cornell hotel graduates have been well received in the industry. Many of the graduates have themselves already attained posts of sufficient importance to enable them to place some of their younger associates. All these helpful contacts and the accomplishments of the graduates have contributed to the placement record of the School: over 98 per cent employment of graduates throughout its history, including the depression years. Every graduate every year has had a place open to him on graduation.

A recent survey of the earnings of the graduates of the School indicates that their financial success is high in comparison both with that of the noncollege graduate in the hotel field and with that of college graduates in many other fields where a degree is required. The median salary for the man one year out was about $5,500. The median for all the graduates, $12,000. The range ran up to $76,000 and more.

The first Cornell hotel class was graduated in 1925 with eleven members. On June 15, 1960, there were 1,968 living graduates. The partial list, given on the following pages, indicates the types of positions held by former students.

Cornell men, it will be noted, are in highly responsible positions in the large hotel groups: J. P. Binns '28 is Vice President of Hilton Hotels; D. A. Boss '43 is Treasurer of the Boss Hotels; R. M. Brush '34 is Vice President of the Sheraton Corporation; H. L. Dayton '25 is President and General Manager of the Dayton Hotels; P. R. Handlery '43 is Vice President of the Handlery Hotels; L. P. Himmelman '33 is Vice President of Western Hotels, Inc.; F. J. Irving '35 is Operations Manager of the Intercontinental Hotels Corporation; J. W. Keithan '50 is Purchasing Agent of Western Hotels, Inc.; L. H. Lee '30 is President of the Lee Hotel Company; H. A. MacLennan '26 is Vice President Operations, Hilton Credit Corporation; A. B. Merrick '30 is Vice President and Managing Director of the Roger Smith Hotels; W. E. Muser '53 is National Supervisor of Food and Beverage Operations of Manger Hotels; J. L. Slack '26 is General Purchasing Agent of Zeckendorf Hotels; Curt Strand '43 is Vice President of Hilton Hotels International; and J. B. Temple '38 is Vice President in charge of operations of Holiday Inns.

Many of the country's noted individual hotels, also, are managed by Cornellians. The Waldorf-Astoria is managed by W. W. Lee, Jr.; the Pierre, by W. R. Ebersol; the Drake, by L. E. Shoenbrunn; the Greenbrier, by E. T. Wright. Even many famous foreign hotels have Cornell management: the Berlin Hilton; the San Carlos Gran, Guatemala City; the Dome, Kyrenia; the Residency, Pretoria; the Hanko, Fredrikstad; and the Imperial and the Shiba Park, Tokyo.

In the restaurant field it is the same, with Cornellians active in the management of such chains as Stouffer's and Hot Shoppes, and of the Marshall Field restaurants. The President of the Prophet Company and a Vice President of Slater, two large industrial feeders, are Cornellians. Important hospitals, such as those of the Mayo Clinic and the Memorial Center for Cancer and Allied Diseases, are under Cornell administration. The contributions of Hotel School alumni to the allied fields is also noteworthy.

ADMISSION

ADMISSION to the School of Hotel Administration is granted in September and in February to the prospective student who meets:

- A. The regular academic entrance requirements, and
- B. The requirements in personal qualifications.

A. ACADEMIC REQUIREMENTS

The applicant must have completed a secondary school course and must offer sixteen units of entrance credit including English, four units, and mathematics, two units. The remaining units are to be selected from the following list. They should include sciences (preferably chemistry or physics or both), social studies (including history), and, desirably additional mathematics. The figures following each subject indicate its value in entrance units and show the minimum and the maximum amount of credit allowed in the subject.

ENGLISH, 4 YEARS (required of all entering students).....4

FOREIGN LANGUAGES (modern and ancient)

French	1-4	Spanish	1-4
German	1-4	Greek	1-3
Hebrew	1-3	Latin	1-4
Italian	1-3

(If a foreign language is offered for entrance, it is desirable to present at least two years, although credit will be granted for a single year of study in not more than two languages.)

MATHEMATICS

Elementary Algebra	1	Plane Geometry	1
Intermediate Algebra	1	Solid Geometry	1/2
Advanced Algebra	1/2	Plane Trigonometry	1/2

SCIENCES

Biology	1	General Science	1
Botany	1/2-1	Physical Geography	1/2-1
Chemistry	1	Physics	1
Earth Science	1/2-1	Zoology	1/2-1

(If a unit in biology is offered, a half-unit in botany and a half-unit in zoology may not also be counted.)

SOCIAL STUDIES, including history (each course).....1/2-1

VOCATIONAL SUBJECTS

Agriculture	1/2-1	Industrial Arts	1/2-1
Bookkeeping	1/2-1	Electives—any high school subject or
Drawing	1/2-1	subjects not already used and acceptable
Home Economics	1/2-1	to the University.....	1/2-2

High school and other preparatory work is appraised by the Director of Admissions, to whom the formal application and credentials should be sent. Correspondence relating to the academic admission requirements should be directed to him at Edmund Ezra Day Hall, Cornell University, Ithaca, New York.

Anabel Taylor Hall, home of Cornell United Religious Work, is a campus center of worship for students. It is staffed by thirteen University chaplains representing the major religious faiths at Cornell, ready to counsel, teach, and serve any who call on them.

A candidate may obtain credit in the subjects he wishes to present for admission in one or more ways, or some combination of them, as follows:

1. By presenting an acceptable school certificate.
2. By passing, in the required subjects, the achievement tests of the College Entrance Examination Board, or
3. By passing the necessary Regents examinations.

Since students enroll for the work in hotel administration at Cornell University from all parts of the United States and from other countries, and since the subjects of study available to students in the high schools vary from section to section, the prospective student is allowed wide freedom in the choice of his high-school subjects. Only English, obviously valuable, and the minimum mathematics necessary for the important required sequence of courses in engineering are specified. Students and vocational advisers should not, however, be misled by this freedom. The curriculum in hotel administration includes a number of rigorous courses in accounting, science, and engineering, and, while the committee on admissions gives due weight to the more personal factors, it insists, for the protection of the prospective student, on evidence of good scholastic ability—ability to carry an exacting college program.

The committee believes that a sequence of study of at least three years of a foreign language is likely to be useful to the hotel man or restaurateur and that its completion is an evidence of scholastic ability. Two years of a language are of much less value than three.

While not required, a four-year sequence in mathematics is evidence of good workmanship. Trigonometry is useful in the engineering courses. Of the sciences, physics (an additional foundation for engineering) and chemistry are preferred. Some history should be included.

For those students who attend the larger schools with a wealth of offerings, some suggestions as to choice of studies may be welcome. In the selection of a preparatory course, consideration should be given to the student's interests and the school's facilities. It may be, nevertheless, that the suggested preparatory program below will be helpful to the adviser, the parent, and the student.

English, four units

Mathematics, at least two or preferably three or four units

Elementary Algebra, Intermediate Algebra, and Plane Geometry. Also, if possible, Trigonometry, Advanced Algebra, or Solid Geometry

History, at least one unit

Chosen according to interest of the student and facilities of the school.

Foreign language, three units

French, German, Spanish, or Latin

Science, two units

Physics (helpful in engineering); Chemistry (helpful with foods work); General Science; Biology (helpful with foods work)

Electives, enough units to make the total sixteen.

B. PERSONAL REQUIREMENTS

As more applicants can meet the requirements stated under "A" above than can be accommodated, the faculty attempts to choose through a Committee on Admissions (whose decisions are final) those likely to profit most by the instruction offered. The Committee asks that each prospective student arrange an interview with a representative of the School and that each prospective student take the Scholastic Aptitude Test given by the College Entrance Examination Board.*

* By exception this requirement is waived in the cases of applicants who are college graduates and in the cases of applicants whose mother tongue is not English.

Applicants are required to furnish three pictures, passport size, with the formal application or at the time of the interview.

The interviews are best held in Ithaca. Therefore, candidates who can conveniently visit Ithaca are urged to do so. They will profit by an acquaintance with the University, its facilities, and its staff. The interview will be most meaningful. In his correspondence, the applicant should mention the date and the hour of his choice, addressing his request to the School of Hotel Administration, Statler Hall.

However, not all prospective students can readily come to Ithaca. To meet their needs other arrangements are made. An interview team goes to Chicago each year at the time of the Mid-West Hotel Exposition, to Boston at the time of the New England Hotel Exposition, and to Cleveland, New York, Philadelphia, and Washington during March and April. Arrangements have also been made with graduates and others active in the hotel and restaurant business in most of the principal cities of the world to serve as interviewers. The prospective student should inform the School of his choice of time and place for his interview by writing directly to the School of Hotel Administration, Statler Hall.

The Scholastic Aptitude Test is given by the College Entrance Examination Board at points all over the country and at the larger cities abroad. It is given six times a year, but the prospective student should plan to take the test in December or January. Detailed information regarding the places of examination and the exact dates can be obtained by writing to the College Entrance Examination Board at Box 592, Princeton, New Jersey. Prospective students residing in the Rocky Mountain states or farther west should address the Board at Box 27896, Los Angeles 27, California. Admission to the Scholastic Aptitude Test is by prior arrangement only. Application for admission should be filed directly with the Board. To avoid a late application fee, it should be filed not later than three weeks in advance of the date of the examination.

The procedures involved in securing admission may appear somewhat involved. They are designed, however, to protect the prospective student. Only those are admitted who seem likely to be able to carry a rigorous college program and who seem likely later to be successful in the industry. The risk of future failure or disappointment is thus reduced to a minimum. To provide ample time for all the arrangements, the formal application for admission should be filed before April 1 for students planning to enter in September. Students planning to enter the spring term in February should file formal application by December 1.

Every accepted candidate for matriculation must submit to the Director of Admissions a satisfactory certificate of immunization against smallpox. It will be accepted as satisfactory only if it certifies that within the last three years a successful vaccination has been performed. Entering students, graduate or undergraduate, should consult the General Information Announcement for details on certain medical requirements that must be met either before or during the registration period. The Announcement may be obtained by writing the Office of Announcements, Edmund Ezra Day Hall.

TRANSFER STUDENTS

With the approval of the Committee on Admissions students may be admitted to the School with advanced standing from other institutions of collegiate grade.

To such students credit will ordinarily be given, against the specific degree requirements, for those courses for which substantially equivalent work has been done. For that portion of the student's work not applicable to the specific requirements, credit up to twenty-four hours will ordinarily be given against the requirement of one hundred and twenty hours. The total of transfer credit allowed may not exceed sixty semester hours. Transfer students will be held, in common with the others, for the completion of the hotel-practice requirement before the last term of residence. When they apply for admission they are expected to take the Scholastic Aptitude Test and to present themselves for interviews. Formal applications for admission should be filed before April 1 with the Director of Admissions, Edmund Ezra Day Hall.

Students will be accepted on transfer from junior colleges, but only if their records show them to be fully qualified for rigorous advanced college work. In each case the preparatory school record must meet Cornell entrance standards, and the junior college record must be of superior grade. No prospective student planning on eventual enrollment in the School of Hotel Administration at Cornell should embark first on a junior college program as a means of avoiding Cornell entrance requirements or as a matter of economy. If he has entrance deficiencies, he should remedy them. If he lacks funds, he should apply for scholarship aid.

COLLEGE GRADUATES

Advanced degrees, the Master's and the Doctor's, in the field of hotel and restaurant management have been offered at Cornell University since 1929. Just as with the four-year undergraduate course, the standards for admission and for graduation are high. Thus, to embark on work toward the Master's or Doctor's degree with hotel or restaurant specialization, it is required that the student have completed the undergraduate program or its equivalent.

However, many college graduates interested in professional careers in hotel or restaurant operation, in industrial feeding, in hospital administration, or in institution or club management have found the specialized courses offered by the School of Hotel Administration a valuable addition to the more general education they have received as undergraduates. When approved by the Committee on Admissions, a college graduate may enroll at his choice, either as a special student, or as a candidate for the School's Bachelor of Science degree. As a special student, he will select freely a program of courses designed to meet his particular needs. As a candidate for the degree, his choice of courses will be influenced by the degree requirements. Typically, however, college graduates have found that the courses they choose voluntarily as a matter of professional improvement are also the courses required for the degree. In any event the student is eligible for the placement assistance offered by the School and by the Cornell Society of Hotelmen.

The college graduate who elects to become a candidate for the School's degree is held for the regular degree requirements, including the practice requirement, but receives credit against the academic requirements for all work he may have previously completed satisfactorily that may be appropriately applied against those requirements, including the 24 hours of free electives. He may also receive, under the usual rules, credit against the practice requirement for any related experience in the field. The amount of time required to earn the second degree varies somewhat with the undergraduate program but is usually about two years.

Each year a substantial number of the new students entering the School are college graduates. They have a community of interest and a seriousness of purpose that makes their study at the School very effective. In the second year they are extensively employed as laboratory assistants. The colleges whose graduates have appeared on the rolls of the Hotel School and have won recognition for themselves later in the field are too numerous to list here. They include such institutions as Dartmouth, Harvard, Yale, University of Pennsylvania, Virginia, Michigan State, Tulane, and California.

College graduates, candidates for admission, are held to satisfy the personal admission requirements described on page 58. Like all other candidates for admission they present themselves for a personal interview; but they are not required to take the College Board's Scholastic Aptitude Test. Those who have previously taken the latter test, however, are asked to have the Board transmit the scores.

Students from twenty foreign countries are welcomed by Dean Meek.

FOREIGN STUDENTS

Students from foreign countries who present satisfactory evidence of adequate capacity and training may be admitted to the School. If their previous education does not conform, point by point, to that required of the native student, they may, in some cases, be admitted as special students, not candidates for the degree. If their work is satisfactory, they may then later apply for regular status as degree candidates.

Prospective students whose native language is not English will not be required to take the Scholastic Aptitude Test. All prospective students, wherever they may be located, however, are required to arrange for an interview.

LIVING ARRANGEMENTS

Students studying hotel and restaurant management at Cornell University are members of the regular student body. They participate in the usual student activities, play on the teams, sing with the glee clubs, and act in student plays. Like other students, they may live in the dormitories, in fraternities or sororities, or in private homes.

For men, dormitories housing about 2100 are located on the western slope of the campus, about a five-minute walk from Statler Hall. Hotel students take many of their meals at the student cafeteria in Statler Hall, where the preparation and service are largely the work of their fellow students. The dormitories have a snack bar. Meal service is also available at the union building, Willard Straight Hall, in which all hotel students have membership, at the Home Economics cafeteria, and at commercial restaurants near by.

For women students, both graduate and undergraduate, the University provides attractive dormitories and cottages on the campus, less than a five-minute walk from Statler Hall. These residence units are supplemented by fourteen sorority houses near by. With few exceptions all undergraduate women students are required under University policy to live and take their meals in residential halls or in sorority houses. Permission to live elsewhere in Ithaca is granted only under exceptional circumstances upon written application to the Office of the Dean of Students, Edmund Ezra Day Hall.

For married students, the University operates the Pleasant Grove Apartments, a new garden-type housing development at the edge of the campus, and the Cornell Quarters, a recently renovated housing development southeast of the campus. Housing is also available in privately owned properties in Ithaca and the vicinity.

Skating on Beebe Lake below the women's dormitories. Figure skaters and hockey players prefer the artificial ice rink in Lynah Hall, where the hockey games are played.

Detailed information on all types of housing as well as application forms may be obtained by writing the Department of Residential Halls, Edmund Ezra Day Hall, Cornell University, Ithaca, New York.

A flotilla of sailboats is towed out for an afternoon sail on Cayuga Lake.

Beebe Lake is a favorite place for swimming and sunbathing.

REGULARLY enrolled students in the School of Hotel Administration are candidates for the degree of Bachelor of Science. The requirements are:

1. The completion of eight terms in residence,*
2. The completion, with a general average of seventy, of 120 credit hours, required and elective, as set forth below:

Specifically Required	Semester Hours
Hotel Accounting: 81, 82, 181, 182	16
Hotel Administration: 100, 114, 171	8
Hotel Engineering: 260 plus twelve additional hours	15
Foods: Hotel Administration 120, 220, 201,† 206, 214, and 215	23
Economics: 103, 104 plus three additional hours	9
English: 111, 112	6
Speech and Drama 201‡	3
TOTAL SPECIFICALLY REQUIRED	80
Hotel Electives	16
Free Electives	24
Total Semester Hours Required for Graduation	120

3. The completion, before entering the last term of residence, of sixty points of practice credit as defined on page 76, and

4. The completion, during the first four terms of residence, of the University requirements in physical education as set forth in the General Information Announcement.

Suggested programs of courses arranged by years appear on pages 67-69. The specifically required courses there indicated account for eighty of the total of one hundred and twenty hours. From the hotel electives (pages 69-70), some combination of courses, the credit for which totals at least sixteen hours, is also to be taken. The remaining twenty-four hours may be earned in courses chosen at will, with the approval of the adviser, from the offerings of any college of the University, provided only that the customary requirements for admission to the courses chosen are met.

Students in the School of Hotel Administration who plan to attend summer school at Cornell or elsewhere and Cornell students who propose to attend any other university with the expectation that credit thus earned might be counted

* College graduates and students transferring from other colleges and universities may be allowed appropriate credit against the residence requirement at the time of admission. A student who has completed six terms at the School of Hotel Administration and who has attained a cumulative average of 85 may petition the faculty for permission to waive the residence requirement.

† Institution Management 200 plus one hour of hotel electives or Institution Management 210 may be substituted for Hotel Administration 201.

‡ Extension Teaching 101-102 may be substituted for Speech and Drama 201, satisfying thereby in addition one hour of hotel electives.

Professor J. J. Wanderstock and Myrtle Ericson conduct a seminar on food research in the Herndon Room of the Statler Library.

toward the Cornell degree in hotel administration, should obtain the approval of the School in advance. Credit will not be allowed otherwise.

Credit earned in the courses in military science or air science or naval science may be counted in the twenty-four hour group of free electives. Both men and women students are required by the University faculty to take courses in physical education, but no credit against the academic degree requirement is allowed for these courses.

CERTIFIED PUBLIC ACCOUNTING

Graduates who plan to go into hotel and restaurant accounting and who expect eventually to become candidates for admission to the examination for a certificate as a certified public accountant in the State of New York may, by taking a special program, earn the certification of the School of Hotel Administration as having completed the course of study approved by the Education Department of the State of New York. The program involves carrying a substantial load of additional subjects. Students should consult with Professor Cladel.

AMERICAN DIETETIC ASSOCIATION

Students who look forward to careers that may involve responsibility for food operations in hotels, schools, colleges, and institutions generally may wish to satisfy the requirements for membership in the American Dietetic Association. To do so, it is necessary only to include among their electives a course in human physiology (Human Physiology 303); a course in advanced food production management (such as Hotel Administration 202 or 203, or Institution Management 220); and a course in personnel management (such as Hotel Administration 119). These electives together with the specifically required courses will meet the educational requirements for membership in the American Dietetic Association.

Commander Bond instructs students in his quantity food production class in the use of a high-speed, low-water, all-electric trunnion kettle for the batch cooking of fresh spinach and other vegetables.

PRACTICE REQUIREMENT

TO MEET the practice requirement, each student must complete before the last term of residence three summer periods (or their equivalent) of supervised employment on approved jobs in approved hotels or restaurants. For purposes of administration this requirement is also stated as *the completion, before beginning the last term of residence, of at least sixty points of practice credit, where the point of credit is so defined that the normal summer's work of about ten weeks, with all the required * notices, reports, and other supervision, counts for twenty points.* For exceptionally good types of experience, good workmanship, and excellent reports, excess credit is given, while for poor experience, poor workmanship, or poor or tardy reports, less than normal credit is allowed.

Credit for hotel or restaurant experience is estimated on the basis of reports filed by the students, by the School's coordinator, and by the employers. A limited amount of credit (up to forty-five points) may be earned before entering college. Therefore, students who expect to be employed in the field before entering Cornell University and who wish to count that work against the practice requirement should apply before beginning work or as soon thereafter as possible to the Committee on Practice for instructions. Not more than forty-five points of practice credit may be earned in any one hotel or restaurant, and not more than 15 points may be earned while earning academic credit. Applications for practice credit must be made at the time of registration. No credit will be allowed for prior experience not reported at the time of registration.

Each student enrolled in the School is expected to spend his summer vacation periods at approved work, and failure to do so without the express permission of the Committee on Practice or failure to submit the required practice notices and reports renders him liable to dismissal or discipline. Plans for the summer should be made definite only after a study of the practice instructions and with the approval of the chairman of the Committee. Formal application for credit must be filed on or before the first day of classes following the completion of the period of experience.

Since hotel and restaurant experience is a prerequisite for most of the special hotel and restaurant courses, it is distinctly to the student's advantage to satisfy the practice requirement early in his career. Attention is called especially to the fact that the practice requirement must be satisfied before the beginning of his last term of residence. No student is permitted to register for his final term of residence until he has satisfied the practice requirement in full.

Since cadets in the Army Reserve Officers Training Corps are expected to spend six weeks in camp during the summer before their senior year, it is especially desirable that hotel students who plan to join the Corps and to elect the advanced courses in military science and tactics make every effort to expedite their practice work early. By working the full vacation periods of thirteen weeks and by filing extra reports it is possible to satisfy the practice requirements and to attend the final summer training camp. Similarly students enrolled in the Navy Reserve Officers Training Corps who must make summer cruises should anticipate the practice requirements as much as possible.

* As set forth in the Practice Instructions supplied on request to the School, Statler Hall.

Although the supervised practice is an essential part of the student's program, the School does not guarantee summer positions. Through the School's numerous contacts with the hotel and restaurant industry, a considerable number of openings are available for students of high promise. Other students are assisted in finding work, and ordinarily American students find jobs quite readily. Jobs suitable for foreign students are considerably less numerous. Consequently, the foreign student must expect to have considerably more difficulty in getting located. The School will give such assistance as it can to foreign students but in no case can guarantee placement or assume responsibility for it.

Some hotel and restaurant organizations (among them the American Hotel Corporation, Hilton Hotels, Intercontinental Hotels, Sheraton Hotels, and Stouffer's and Howard Johnson's restaurants) make a point of providing experience opportunities for Cornell students, setting up special apprenticeship arrangements with rotated experience for them.

The type of experience for which practice credit has been given is illustrated by jobs previously held by hotel students:

EXPENSES

A DETAILED statement regarding fees and expenses will be found in the General Information Announcement, a copy of which will be sent on request. In brief, the student will be held, on registering, for the following fees each semester:

Tuition *	$600.00
College and University General Fee †	$112.50
<hr/>
TOTAL PER TERM *	$712.50

Living expenses, in addition to the above fees, depend upon the student's taste and standards and probably range upwards from $600 a term. Thus, for the school year of nine months about $2,625 are needed. Clothing, transportation, and fraternity dues are not included.

SELF-SUPPORT

The student who wishes to be partially self-supporting can ordinarily earn his room or his meals, reducing the school-year budget to $1,600 or $1,800. Many earn more, but the sacrifice of time and energy and the drain of classroom work are heavy, especially the first year. Savings from summer earnings range from $400 to $1,200. Self-supporting students may also apply for loans and for the scholarships listed on the following pages.

HEALTH SERVICES AND MEDICAL CARE

These services are centered in the University's Gannett Clinic (out-patient department) and in the Cornell Infirmary (hospital). Students are entitled to unlimited visits at the Clinic; laboratory and X-ray examinations indicated for diagnosis and treatment; hospitalization in the Infirmary with medical care for a maximum of fourteen days each term and emergency surgical care. The cost for these services is included in the College and University general fee.

On a voluntary basis, insurance is available to supplement these services. For further details, see the General Information Announcement.

* Tuition and fees may be changed by the Board of Trustees to take effect at any time without previous notice.

† The College and University General Fee contributes toward the services given by the libraries, the Clinic and Infirmary, and the student union in Willard Straight; it also pays part of the extra costs of laboratory courses and general administration and supports programs of physical recreation and student activities. For information about other fees, methods of payment, and automobile regulations, see the General Information Announcement

SCHOLARSHIPS AND OTHER AID

NO WORTHY and able student needs to hesitate to consider Cornell because of limited means. The scholarship resources of the Hotel School are strong, and it is the aim of the School to provide sufficient assistance so that any candidate who shows promise can make his way through without undue strain on him or his parents.

Financial aid is available from the general scholarship funds of the University and the large number of Hotel School scholarships listed below. Aid is available through work opportunities in the Statler Inn and Club, on the campus, and in the community. The Guiteau Fund and the loan fund of the Cornell Society of Hotelmen are also available.

APPLICATIONS

New students seeking scholarship aid through any of the scholarships awarded by Cornell University listed below may become an applicant by filing a single application on blanks obtainable on request from the Office of Admissions. The application is handled through the College Scholarship Service, which processes centrally scholarship applications for a large number of universities so that information provided for Cornell is available for use by all other participating institutions as well. His application then becomes valid for any scholarship open to Cornell students generally, for any scholarship awarded by the School of Hotel Administration, and for such scholarships at other institutions as he may indicate.

The formal application is due at Cornell not later than February 15 of the year of admission. Candidates must take the Scholastic Aptitude Test not later than the February sitting.

In the awards, consideration is given to the financial situation of the student and his family and to his ability as evidenced by his preparatory school record, his scholastic aptitude test scores, and the interview.

Prospective students are eligible also for a number of scholarships awarded by non-Cornell agencies. Some of them are described on page 85.

Students already enrolled in the School may obtain scholarship application blanks at the School office. In making the award to continuing students, consideration is given to need as evidenced by the family's financial situation and the student's scholastic record as well as to his over-all promise.
